OXFORD BEANIE £14.99

New to Oxford Products is its Aqua Beanie which triumphs over many similar examples of headgear by being both thermal and waterproof thanks to a unique membrane. It's also lightweight and wind resistant. A beanie may not be the most lovely of headgear—and the colour choice of charcoal or navy is a little school uniform—but there's a lot to be said for being warm and dry rather than stylish and wet. Now in stock at Oxford Products dealers nationwide, or by visiting www.oxprod.com.

OXFORD SNOOD £14.99

Alas, the word 'snood' still conjures up the sort of bizarre knitted garment that you would always be presented with at Christmas by the ancient aunt who smelled of lavender and cats. Despite its usefulness, the snood is forever redolent of old ladies who don one in September and don't remove it until April or they're eaten by their cats, whichever is first. But this version from Oxford Products is both thermal and waterproof, although that young man could have brushed his hair before having his photo taken. Available from www.oxprod.com.
